HOW TO PLAY

1. Print the 40 different cards (pages 2-41). Give one card to each student.
2. Keep the two teacher-call pages (42-43). Read only the English clue; hide the answer column.
3. Everyone starts at the stated place, faces the named compass direction, then moves one square per block.
4. The final check uses our map key: next to = immediately left/right in the same row; across from = immediately above/below in the same column.
5. Students name the destination in English. If it is on their card, they mark that place. Three in a row wins. Verify against the call sheet.

LANGUAGE AND PEDAGOGY

Target language: start at, face north/east/south/west, go straight, turn left/right, next to, across from.

The same map appears on every card. Only the nine answer places change. A clue has one checked destination.

First model a route with your finger. Then read each clue twice; students trace before they mark.

This is a schematic classroom map: the relation words use the explicit key above, not real-world traffic rules.
